FUN IN BILL POSTING.

HUMOR IN A BUSINESS WHERE YOU WOULDN'T LOOK FOR IT

Picturesque and Mirthful Effects Produced With Paste Pot and Brush—Devils and Angels Are Incongruously Mixed Up, "Post No Bills" Goes.

All trades have their droll aspects, but that of the billposter is one long vista of fun. He may become an artist congenitally of the first order. It does not require much brain weight either. An old man is his only arena, and his poster crs are his stock in trade.

His fun is not momentary, but it is potent while it lasts. He accomplishes it by means of the combinations he is forced to make when he posts new bills over the old ones. Some of the combinations are very funny. Thus he is forced to become a match producer whether he will or no, but there are some among the men who got their livelihood in this manner who intentionally place the new bills where they will produce the oddest if not momentary effects.

The reporter watched one of these knights of the paste pot while he proceeded to cover up a rather flaming picture of his satanic majesty with a bill which portrayed a naval officer in full uniform. The first section put on was the officer's head. As it fitted exactly on to Mephisto's shoulders the effect was comical. The next section brought the naval man down to the bottom of his coat. From a short distance it appeared precisely as though he was minus his nether garments and stood bare legged in the rising flames which enveloped him to his knees. The billposter chuckled as he surveyed his work at this point and asked the reporter what he thought of it while he covered the officer's nakedness with a pair of trousers and shoes.

The billposter was quite talkative in his way and spoke of the droll side of his business. "Did it never occur to you," said he as he picked and sorted some flaming colored bills preparatory to pasting them on the fence, "did it never occur to you what an odd and amusing business this is? You saw me put a uniform on the devil. Fanny wasn't it? Well, it wasn't a patch to the effects produced sometimes. These bills have to be changed nearly every week, and the posters get fed up in the queerest way. I've put angels' heads on devils and devils' heads on angels. I've put a man with a dress coat on where a ballet girl was, so that it looked as though the skirts branched out below where the coat was. I left them for a moment while I pasted other bills, and quite a crowd gathered around. A policeman came along, and I had to cover it up."

"Once I had a Salvation Army poster to put up, and when I pasted the top portion of it over a bill advertising the play of 'Julius Caesar' the large blue bonnet of the Salvation Army girl fit Caesar perfectly. It was too bad I had to stop it."

"You see that bullet girl on the fence over there? I have got to paste this big cat over it. Now watch me do it."

He took a section of a bill with the head of a grinning feline on it and placed it so that it fitted to the girl's shoulders. A halo surrounded the cat's head, and the whole affair had a purr in its boots about it that reminded one of a fairy tale.

Near by on the fence was a negro minstrel, whose immense teeth showed through lips which stretched from ear to ear.

"Now see how I will fix that fellow," said the man of the brush as he got ready a bill on which a large tiger was represented half-naked on a big blue ball. The tiger's position was on the upper part of the poster. The first section fit the animal's head on the fence, and with it so that it fitted to the girl's shoulder.

The tiger's position was on the upper part of the poster. The first section fit the animal's head on the fence, and with it so that it fitted to the girl's shoulder.

"That," said the billposter, "is what I call an artful artistic effect. It isn't often an artist can create Samson in almost this style."

Following his pasting of the tiger, the man proceeded to put up a bear. On the spot where it was to go an overfat baby held up a package of a compound much advertised of late. The bear was built up from the feet, which rested on a horizontal bar. The bear's neck and the baby's neck touched the same point, and before the bear's head was pasted up there appeared a combination of human and brute anatomy which could hardly be equaled by a monstrosity in a dime museum.

Bill posting has undergone a great change in recent years. It is not the haphazard business it once was—that is, it is not allowable for men to go around pasting bills wherever they could find a fence. Most of the big fences are preempted now by firms who pay rent for the privilege.

The old sign of "Post no bills" is more potent than it was. Its infringement now may mean a lawsuit. It used to be very much disregarded. There is record of a very literal man who was arrested for intruding a sign which read "post no bills under penalty." When the judge asked him if he had any excuse to offer, he said he had not "posted under penalty." He had posted further along the fence—"New York World."

The great searchlight made by the General Electric company, and which was exhibited at Chicago, afterward at the Winter exposition, San Francisco, has found a final home and resting place at Mount Lowe, California. It is estimated the rays of this wonderful light can be seen at a distance of 200 miles when the air is clear.—Philadelphia Ledger.

THE NICARAGUA CANAL.

A bill before Congress to grant a subsidy of $100,000,000 to aid in the construction of the Nicaragua canal. This, it is believed, will be sufficient to complete the work. The canal company, which has a concession from the Nicaraguan Government authorizing the construction of the canal, asks the United States Government to give it $20,000,000 for an interest in the concession and to reimburse it for expenditures in surveying the route. The company asks the United States Government to enter into partnership with it in building the canal and to furnish all the money that may be required to complete it.

There is a strong lobby at work in Washington endeavoring to get the subsidy bill through Congress. Several newspapers in the principal cities are also advocating the scheme. The lobby and the papers urge the granting of the subsidy on patriotic grounds. They say the canal is a necessity. The Government requires the completion of the canal to enable its war vessels to get from the Atlantic to the Pacific speedily in time of war and the commercial interests of the country demand its completion to cheapen transportation between the Atlantic and Pacific States.

Senator Stewart denounces the bill as a big steal. He contends that if the Government has to furnish the money to build the canal it should own the canal. He does not believe in the Government of the United States entering into partnership with a private corporation to build the canal and furnish all the money that may be required to complete the enterprise.

Is not Senator Stewart right? Why should the Government guarantee the payment of all bonds that may be issued by a private corporation to do what the Government can do itself? If it is for the best interests of the country for the Government to own the principal railroads why should it not own and operate the canal as well? Will not the canal be owned and managed by a private corporation, be run in the interest of that corporation, as the railroads are now?

If the Nicaragua canal is a public necessity let the public build and operate it, instead of furnishing means for a private corporation to build and conduct it in its own interest.

PACIFIC COAST BULLION PRODUCT.

Wells, Fargo & Co. have issued their annual statement of the bullion product of the Pacific Coast. The total product for the calendar year 1894 is $105,113,489. The proportion of each metal is as follows:

Per Cent.	Total
Gold	$15,892,569
Silver	27.33
Copper	21.27
Lead	1.82
	22,638,019

Silver is estimated at an average value of 63 cents per ounce, copper at 10 cents per pound, and lead at $3.11 per 100 pounds.

The bullion product of the several States and Territories for 1894 is given as follows: California, $14,183,592; Nevada, $3,100,560; Oregon, $1,711,662; Washington, $43,668; Alaska, $906,246; Idaho, $7,976,220; Montana, $30,250,000; Utah, $7,202,588; Colorado, $20,768,050; New Mexico, $1,871,359; Arizona, $6,995,331; Dakota, $3,045,009; Texas, $33,542; Wyoming, $45,000 and British Columbia $269,377.

The total shows an increase of about $1,900,000 over 1888. The silver product shows a decrease of $9,771,500, and the gold product an increase of $11,690,000 as compared with 1888. The gold product of 1894 was the largest in a quarter of a century.

The value of the product of the four metals mentioned since Wells, Fargo & Co. kept a record of the copper product in 1870, was: Gold, $850,700,083; silver, $1,027,240,541; copper, $177,559,904; lead, $175,198,167. Total, $2,230,758,695.

It would be interesting to know how much of this vast amount of gold and silver is now in the United States. Wells, Fargo & Co. do not keep account of the amount shipped out of the United States and therefore give no figures but as the express company transports very nearly all the bullion produced in the several States and Territories its figures are taken as authoritative.

THE STATE UNIVERSITY.

The Board of Regents of the State University met yesterday, organized and discussed matters of interest pertaining to the institution. Several members of the Legislature from this and other counties attended the meeting and conferred with the Regents relative to the necessary improvements at the University.

The mistaken notion that the University is a county and not a State institution, which prevailed for some time, is happily no longer entertained by the members of the Legislature. The fact is now recognized that the State University is all that the name implies. It is supported by the State for the State and it is rapidly acquiring an enviable reputation as a model educational institution, where the youth of the State are given facilities for acquiring a thorough education at the least possible expense. The graduates are among the best teachers on the coast. Its commercial department gives students a first-class business education. Its school of mines is furnishing competent assayers and metallurgists for the quartz mills of British Columbia, Mexico and South Africa, who are acquiring a reputation of which the University and the State can feel justly proud. To foster and encourage the University should be the aim of every Nevadan, and the members of the Legislature now here evince a disposition to make as liberal appropriations as the State finances will admit for its support. If more money is spent for educating the youth of the State less money will be required for the support of State prisons.

CASIMIR-PERIER RESIGNS.

Slander and Insult Against the Government the Cause.

BRISSON FOR PRESIDENT.

The Attention of Europe Centered Upon France.

THE FRENCH CRISIS

Resignation of President Casimir-Perier - Ballotting for His Successor.

LODGE, January 16.—The resignation of President Casimir-Perier of the French Republic has caused a crisis in France. The Duke of Orleans, the pretender to the throne of France, left Stow House to-day for Dover. It is presumed he is going to Belgium or will meet his supporters at Dover. Consequently it is believed the Royalists of France are preparing to take some action in view of the crisis.

A dispatch to the Standard from Paris says: M. Casimir-Perier during his Presidency has done nothing remarkable. His present decision indicates a great lack of moral courage. Besides M. Brisson and Dupuy, other candidates for the Presidency are General Février and M. Marigny and Cavaignac.

PARIS, January 16.—The attention of the whole of Europe is centered upon this city. There is no doubt that the political crisis resulting from the resignation of the Dupuy Ministry and the subsequent resignation of President Casimir-Perier is the most serious in the history of France. However, the crisis has not had any great effect upon the Bourse. Rentes opened this morning only 75 centimes lower, and advices received here from Vienna say the opening of the Bourse there was firm. The Ministers met at 10 A. M. to discuss the situation, and the Socialist group of Deputies will meet at 1 P. M. to arrange a programme. Rumors are circulating that a dissolution of Parliament is expected.

The opinion as expressed this morning at the clubs and on the boulevards is unanimous with the press in strongly condemning M. Casimir-Perier for having resigned in the midst of a Parliamentary crisis.

The Ministers met again at noon to-day and it is understood the whole political situation was thoroughly discussed. The meeting took place at the Ministry of the Interior, which was surrounded by crowds eagerly discussing the crisis in the affairs of France. In some quarters it is stated that the resignation of the President is not considered official until it is announced to the Chamber of Deputies. It is expected that the official announcement will be made to that body at 3 o'clock this afternoon. One significant feature of the resignation of the President is the fact that his action is condemned even by his most intimate entourage.

At 11 o'clock this morning M. Casimir-Perier received Premier Dupuy and the rest of the Cabinet Ministers. After a short conference they withdrew and the officer of the President's military household conveyed to M. Dupuy M. Casimir-Perier's letter resigning the Presidency. This letter will be read in the Senate and Chamber of Deputies during the afternoon.

In spite of the great interest taken in the political crisis the city remains tranquil. The resignation of the President produced a complete change in business and the tendency on the stock exchange. Buying was stopped and there was a closing of accounts for a time. This is proceeding rapidly in all departments. There was a general, though moderate, decline in French securities, which fell 1/2 with a majority of the market.

There is a great diversity of opinion as to reasons which influenced Casimir-Perier. It is said that the nervous strain had been too great for the President. The death of Burdeau, late President of the Chamber of Deputies, and an intimate friend of the President, affected him greatly. But those most competent to express an opinion believe that the manifesto published by the Socialist Deputies to liberate M. Gerault-Richard, elected a Deputy after having been sentenced to a year's imprisonment, affected him the most strongly.

The Senate and Chamber met at 3 o'clock this afternoon, and the following letter from M. Casimir-Perier was read:

"I did not conceal from myself the difficulties of the task which the National Assembly imposed upon me. I had foreseen them, but if one does refuse a post in a moment of danger one can only protect one's dignity in the conviction that the country is best served. The President of the Republic, without the means of action or without control, can derive from the confidence of the nation alone that moral force without which he is nothing. I doubt neither the good sense nor the justice of France; but public opinion has been led astray. More than twenty years devoted to the same cause; more than twenty years attachment to the Republic and devotion to Democracy have sufficed neither to convince the Republic of the sincerity and ardor of my political faith nor disabuse my adversaries who believe, or affect to believe, that I will make myself an instrument to their passions or hopes."

"For the last six months a campaign of slander and insult has been going on against the army, the Magistracy, the Parliament and the heirarchical Chief of State, and this license to disseminate social hatred continues to be called 'liberty of thought.' The respect and ambition which I entertain for my country will not allow me to acknowledge that the servants of the country and he who represents it in the presence of foreign nations may be insulted every day. I am content to bear the weight of the moral responsibilities placed upon me in the condition of powerlessness to which I am condemned. Perhaps in laying down my function, I shall have marked out the path of duty to those who are solicitous for the dignity of power and the good name of France in the world. Invariably true to myself I remain persuaded that reforms can only be carried out with the assistance of a Government determined to insure respect for the laws and make itself obeyed by its subjects, and group them all together in a common action for common good."

"In spite of the gloom of the present hour, I have never failed to see in the future social progress and justice. I lay on the table of the Senate and Chamber of Deputies my resignation of the functions of President of the Republic."

CASIMIR-PERIER.—BALLOTTING FOR PRESIDENT.

PARIS, January 16.—M. Floquet, formerly Premier, declared in the lobby of the Chamber of Deputies late this afternoon that M. Henri Brisson, President of the Chamber of Deputies, could count on 100 votes in the Senate and 300 among the Deputies. If this is so M. Brisson will be elected President to-morrow.

Republican Senators at a meeting voted for a candidate for the Presidency. Following was the result: M. Waldeck-Rousseau, 63; Brisson, 54; Louvet 18; Challemel-Lacour, 17; Dupuy, 4. Second ballot: M. Waldeck-Rousseau, 84; Brisson, 63.

Wilson, 371 Clay street, Sharpsburg, Pa., says he will not be without Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds; that it cured his wife who was threatened with pneumonia after an attack of la grippe, when various other remedies and several physicians had done her no good. Robert Barber, of Cooksport, Pa., claims Dr. King's New Discovery has done him more good than anything he ever used for lung trouble. Nothing like it. Try it. Free trial bottles at S. J. The first business was the organization of the new Board, and on motion of Mr. Deal, H. L. Fish was chosen as President and Geo. H. Taylor as Secretary.

It was decided to hold the regular monthly meeting of the Board on the last Wednesday of each month.

Senator Summerfield and Assemblymen Beck, Hogan and Stanley of Washoe, Wieland of Elko, and Allen of Eureka were present at the meeting.

President Stubbs addressed the Board, at times reading from his report to the Legislature and making many suggestions for improvement in the standard and efficiency of the school.

He advised a change in the curriculum and that the Normal School be known by the name under which it had been established by law, viz: Nevada State Normal School, and that it should take its place as a distinct branch of the University.

He also explained why it is necessary to the prosperity of the State University to encourage the high schools of the State, so that the students graduating from them would be better fitted to take the University course.

A force of men was put to work building a temporary track around the wreck as it was found impossible to clear it up as soon as expected.

FUEL FOR PARIS

The Coal From Three Countries Is Mixed

For Domestic Use.

Whenever possible the Seine is utilized for the transportation of fuel to Paris. Nearly all the great wholesale firms have their yards in the neighborhood of the river. The railroads also bring a great deal of wood and coal to the city. As the trains move slowly through the yards of some of the lines of railroad the passengers can see inclosures filled with cord wood, store-houses of sacks of fuel; also cars loaded with these sacks, which all seem to be of the same size. The opening of the sacks is secured by lacings of cord, and the cords fastened by leads. Here also may be seen, stored on cars, large un-perforated briquettes for use in chem-

and manufacturers. Along the embankment of the Seine may be seen hundreds of cords of wood piled in such regular order that one could well believe that the spacings were measured off with a rule.

The coal is from English, French and Belgium mines. Sometimes the three kinds are mixed for use in the kitchen ranges.

The shops for the sale of fuel by retail

are almost as numerous as the bakeries

They are always neat, and the wood,

coal and kindlings are arranged in a most artistic manner. The wood is piled so as to show the evenly sawed ends.

The samples of coal are arranged in glass dishes and in some of the shops,

where orders are taken for the whole-ware places, wood is arranged in the windows and decorated with growing moss and ferns. Indeed the chief aim of the French shopkeeper is to make his shop attractive.—Ladies' Home Journal.

Cold Weather Suggestions.

As cold weather approaches women

try to devise means for preventing hands and lips from chapping. An excellent remedy to prevent chapping is cold cream. A manicure says that it whitens

the skin more than any preparation. It has taken the place of the old time remedy—mutton suet. It should be well rubbed into the skin, and gloves preferably white, should be slipped on. The palms of the gloves should be slit in several places to allow the air and prevent cramps of the muscles, and the finger tips clipped off. Vaseline should never be allowed to touch the hands. It turns the skin yellow and leaves a stain on the nails that is hard to clear away.

In winter cold water should be used sparingly. Its action roughens the skin unpleasantly. Tepid water, with a very few drops of household ammonia and a good lather of castile or borax soap, is advisable. If the hands are inclined to redness, the trouble lies in the way of circulation, and slight gymnastics will relieve it.

A Case of Step-love.

The girl with the level brows was talking to the man with the Roman nose.

"I don't understand you," she said coldly.

"I asked you if you thought my love would induce"—

"No, it is impossible. You are not my ideal."

"I don't want to be. Please don't interrupt me again. I morally wanted to know if my earnest, devoted love would—"

"It would not. You are too old. Besides, as I said before, you are not my ideal."

"Hang ideals! I want to marry your mother and be your stepfather. Now, do you understand?"—Detroit Free Press
